A PARADE CELEBRATING THE HEROES OF SKID ROW!
Los Angeles Poverty Department Honors the History and Heroes of Skid Row at 2018 edition of biennial Walk the Talk Parade

WHEN: Saturday, April 21, 2018 11:00AM – 3:00PM
WHERE: Parade route begins at the corner of East 7th Street & Central Avenue.

LOS ANGELES -- Join the performance company Los Angeles Poverty Department for the 2018 edition of its biennial Walk the Talk Parade and Performance chronicling the ongoing history of Skid Row, celebrating the accomplishments of the Skid Row community, and honoring some of the individuals whose initiatives have made extraordinary contributions to the community of Skid Row, making a difference in people’s lives every day.

This year’s honorees are:
Tiffany Rose – Founder of My Friends House LA;
Steve Diaz – Deputy Director of Organizing at Los Angeles Community Action Network;
Bobby Buck – Skid Row’s video / photographer and founder of The Bobby Buck Show;
Vijay Gupta – Founder of Street Symphony;
Demetra Wilson-Washington – Outreach Minister with Central City Community Outreach;
Andy Bales – Executive Director of the Union Rescue Mission;
Eddie H. – Skid Row advocate, active in creating the ReFresh Spot;
Pastor Cue – Founder of Tha Row- Church Without Walls.

Led by Street Symphony’s brass band The LA Marching Band, together with community musicians, the parade makes its way through Skid Row, stopping at eight locations in the neighborhood. At each stop the actors of L.A. Poverty Department will do a short performance recounting the story of each honoree at the site they’ve identified as important to their work.

The audience is encouraged to follow this fun, funky and festive parade, featuring portraits of the honorees by Skid Row artist and muralist CruShow Herring. Bring your tambourine, cowbell, laughter and spirit - be a part of the celebration!

ABOUT LOS ANGELES POVERTY DEPARTMENT
Founded by Artistic Director John Malpede in 1985, Los Angeles Poverty Department is made up of people who make art and live and work in Skid Row. LAPD creates performances and multidisciplinary artworks that connect the experience of people living in poverty to the social forces that shape their lives and communities. LAPD’s works express the realities, hopes, dreams and rights of people who live and work in L.A.’s Skid Row.

Pastor Cue: “I can’t do just church and not do this, because when God said, “I want you to be like Malcolm,” he was calling me to be a prophetic voice. So, we speak truth to power. Because it’s essential. We gotta do it.”

Andy Bales: “I believe that if you say a hurting word to an already hurting person, you are saying a hurting word to God himself.”

Steve Diaz: “And yes, I will say it feels like a calling.”

Demetra Wilson-Washington: “It’s not the dog in the fight, but the fight in the dog.”
Tiffany A. Rose is the Founder of the My Friend's House Foundation, whose mission is to provide life-sustaining staples to homeless and economically disadvantaged men, women, children and seniors in Los Angeles, regardless of race or religious beliefs, providing encouragement and support for them to become self-sufficient and lead healthy lives. Tiffany founded My Friend's House in 2008 with the help of friends and initially served 75 people. Ten years later, My Friend's House L.A. now includes programs that provide low-to-no-cost access to clothing and personal grooming services, life skills classes and even care for pets, through the River Rose Foundation, in memory of Tiffany Rose's dog "Rivert". Tiffany has been helping others from her early age, inspired by the social outreach work of her grandmother. She volunteers with various missions and outreach ministries in the Los Angeles area. Tiffany can be seen every Wednesday distributing food and clothing on San Pedro St. between 5th and 6th, and almost every day in Skid Row at the offices of My Friends House L.A. on 7th St and Central Ave.

Steve Diaz is the Deputy Director of Organizing at Los Angeles Community Action Network. A native Angeleno, he started working as a community organizer after attending a tenant meeting organized by L.A. CAN. He was 19 years old when he went Main Street with his parents at the Frontier Hotel, a target of gentrification after the passage of the City's Adaptive reuse Ordinance. Steve completed L.A. CAN's community intern program in 2003, joining the staff in 2004. Since then he has worked on many community organizing projects from fighting the practice of the “28 Day Shuffle” to educating and defending the rights of tenants at the Frontier, Roslyn, Alexandria, Huntington and Bristol Hotels. His extensive knowledge and calm demeanor creates forward progress and consensus among his collaborators and concessions from his adversaries. Steve is loved and respected by hundreds of Skid Row residents; he has touched the lives and stabilized the housing of thousands of people.

Bobby Buck is Skid Row’s resident photographer and videographer. An Arkansas native, he arrived in the Skid Row community homeless, and eventually connected with Operation Face-Lift/Skid Row and the "positive movement". He found housing, turned his life around and since 2010 has been focused on giving back through community service, entrepreneurship, training and media advocacy. He is someone that has shown initiative and an ability to bring people together through innovative projects. A self-taught photographer, he illuminates the achievements of Skid Row residents through his pictures and videos. After taking pictures of community events, and distributing them on Facebook and YouTube, he noticed that when others in Skid Row saw pictures of themselves doing positive things on his social media, it boosted their self-esteem. In 2014 he began hosting his own radio broadcast at SkidRow Studios, "The Bobby Buck Show", where he focused on important issues in Skid Row, South LA, and beyond. He hosts a talk show called "Skid Row Talkz".

Vijay Gupta is a violinist, speaker and advocate for the power of music to change lives. Gupta joined the LA Philharmonic at 19 after completing a Masters in violin performance from the Yale School of Music and a Bachelor's in biology from Marist College. As a 2011 TED Senior Fellow, Gupta founded Street Symphony, a non-profit organization dedicated to placing music at the heart of social justice, engaging communities in greater Los Angeles experiencing homelessness and incarceration through musical performance and dialogue. In 2017, Gupta was awarded the Leonard Bernstein Lifetime Achievement award by the Longy School of Music of Bard College and was named a Kennedy Center Citizen Artist Fellow. Gupta believes that musical engagement reconnects us to our shared humanity across vast divides, and ultimately impacts social justice.

Demetra Wilson-Washington, aka Lady Dee Dee, is an off-and-on resident of the Skid Row Community since 1986. A Skid Row activist and regular host of "Skid Row TALKZ!", she works with Skid Row’s homeless veterans to help them get the services they need and was active in the effort to create a Skid Row Neighborhood Council. Demetra’s been an active member of the Central City Community Church for many years where she is an outreach Minister and leader of the church’sreative Team. She uses transformational practices to holistically address the needs of the Skid Row community; walking alongside individuals and families to break the cycle of poverty by working towards reconciliation, justice, and peace. She’s been an active member in the progressing and realization of activities in Gladys Park and active in United Coalition East Prevention Project for many years. She’s a dynamic singer who freely offers her talents to the Skid Row community. She has performed with Tommy Newman’s Band and Franc’s Melting Pot, singing everything from R&B to jazz and urban soul.

Reverend Andy Bales is CEO of the Union Rescue Mission. As Mission leader, Reverend Bales has advocated for the development of transitional housing for mothers and their children living in the Mission’s downtown facility and in nearby hotels. He has been involved with a variety of organizations including the United Coalition East Prevention Project (UCEPP), The Skid Row Community Coalition, LA Community Action Network, Goodwill and city initiatives such as L.A. Rite. He is a lively and inspiring presence at every meeting, action and community gathering. Most recently he has been active in developing the Skid Row Community ReFresh Spot, a new mobile hygiene center for unsheltered homeless residents of Skid Row located in Gladys Park.

Pastor Cue is the founder of The Row “Church Without Walls”. A former Virgin Records rapper, Pastor Cue left the music industry in 1994 to begin following God, becoming an evangelist and activist. After serving in ministries and planting churches that took a more traditional approach to practicing Christianity, Cue felt God calling him to the streets, and the seed that would become The Row was planted. Since 2006 he has been ministering to and feeding anyone in the Skid Row community who is hungry for food and the Word of God. Pastor Cue is a strong advocate for the rights of those experiencing homelessness, police accountability and for the dismantling of mass incarceration. A Graduate of the Passing The Mantle program at the University of Southern California, Cue has completed a two-year program at USC’S Institute for Violence prevention. He is also an organizer with Clergy and Laity United for Economic Justice (CLUE), co-lead organizer of the Black Jewish Justice Alliance, (BJJA) and the “We Will Live” coalition–A Black Brown Clergy and Community Coalition. Join Pastor Cue at The Row for services at 7:30pm every Friday night, rain or shine, in front of the Giant Trading shop on 435 Wall St. at the corner of Wall St. and Wiston St.
Why Walk the Talk:

In 1975, an amazing, enlightened moment of LA city governance occurred when a zoning plan was put in place that preserved the biggest stash of low income housing in Los Angeles County — in other words, instead of bringing in the wrecking balls, it preserved the Skid Row neighborhood. In the nearly 50 years since then, most of that housing has been taken out of slum lord hands and is now owned by non-profits who have renovated existing buildings and created new ones. Other non-profits and social services have located there. And importantly, the long-term permanent residents of the neighborhood have made mighty contributions toward preserving the neighborhood and making it livable. It was Skid Row residents who got City Council to enact a moratorium on hotel conversion, during the height of the early 2000’s real estate bubble feeding frenzy. It was Skid Row residents who started providing trashcans and cleaning up the streets, when the city wouldn’t. It was a Skid Row resident that got the Parks Department to reinvest in Gladys Park. Right now, its Skid Row residents working to form a Skid Row Neighborhood Council that can adequately represent the needs and interests of Skid Row residents.

Right now, there are dueling narratives about who comprises the “downtown community,” new residents claim that they are creating community downtown, but, often without understanding the accomplishments of the long term Skid Row residents. Walk the Talk is intended to highlight these achievements while fostering an understanding of how Skid Row people and institutions contribute to the wellbeing of the entire city. As the site of many groundbreaking solutions to intractable social problems, Skid Row is a valuable social incubator for communities everywhere.

LAPD began chronicling the social history of Skid Row with its 2002 month-long installation, “Is there History on Skid Row?” at 112 Winston Street (corner of Main) and again in 2007, with our performance project UTOPIA/Dystopia, which engaged people from all parts of downtown, asking them to envision their ideal future for LA. This was followed by our 2008 gallery exhibition “The Skid Row History Museum” at The Box Gallery. Our chronicling of the neighborhood’s achievements continued with our first Walk the Talk parade and conversations in 2012 and continued with our 2014 and 2016 Walk the Talk parade. LAPD’s performances/installations “What Fuels Development?” (2014) and “The Back 9” (2016) addressed gentrification and re-zoning of our neighborhood. Our current exhibit at the Skid Row History Museum and Archive, Zillionaires Against Humanity: Sabotaging the Skid Row Neighborhood Council, examines the outsized investment and great lengths gone to by downtown powerbrokers, to subvert the sub-division election that would have given the Skid Row Neighborhood its own neighborhood council.

WALK THE TALK 2018

1. Richard Fulton, (AKA) 5th St Dick
Jazz advocate Richard Fulton became clean and sober on Skid Row, before opening “5th Street Dick’s Coffeehouse” in Leimert Park. He provided opportunities for young musicians to play and older musicians to make a comeback. “You could go to 5th Street Dick’s at 2 AM and see Japanese tourists catching a jazz set inside, and outside see white chess players peering over the shoulders of black chess players,” said poet Kamau Daaco, a seminal figure in the Leimert Park arts movement.

2. + 3. Catherine Morris and Jeff Dietrich
In 1970, Catherine Morris and Jeff Dietrich joined the Los Angeles Catholic Worker. The Catholic Worker is a lay Catholic community of men and women, which operates a free soup kitchen, a hospitality house for the homeless, an AIDS ministry, a newspaper and a hospice for the dying. Jeff and Catherine have been active at all levels: from direct service to policy planning to the development of neighborhood amenities for people living in poverty. Their early involvement in the neighborhood was encouraged by the involvement of many others, including the founding of Las Familias del Pueblo and Inner City Law Center.

4. Officer James Rich
An LA County Police Officer James Rich was a guard at the Department of Public Social Services 4th Place office serving Skid Row, from November 26, 1970 until his retirement in June 2010. The six foot six inch Rich, a former UCLA basketball player, was an imposing presence at the DPSS office. He was recognized by Department of Social Services staff and clients alike as a “gentle giant” who preferred to use reason and compassion, if at all possible, as his main enforcement tools. One way or another he maintained a safe environment in the office and because he was respected by all he was often able to contribute to resolving differences between workers and clients.

5. Robert Chaimbers
Nicknamed The Pit, the corner of 5th and San Pedro was known as the last place on Skid Row. There, a mural is inscribed with poetry courtesy of the Homeless Writers Coalition. The Coalition was founded in 1985 by Robert Chambers, Dino Lewis, London Wright, Southern Comfort and others as an outlet for other neighborhood literacy talent. Chambers served as president of the Coalition for eight years, as the Coalition produced numerous readings, live theater, a CD and a newspaper. Chambers poetry was included in the nationally televised documentary “The United States of Poetry.”

6 + 7. Rosa Arzola and Jill Halverson
In 1975, a social worker named Jill Halverson met Rose Arzola in the parking lot where she was temporarily living. Jill found Rose to be a bright, loving, interesting, persevering woman with a keen sense of humor. She also discovered that Rose was originally from El Paso, and had cleaned homes and cooked for several families in Los Angeles, until her twentys, when mental illness struck and she ended up hospitalized, and eventually homeless. Jill was so deeply moved by Rose’s situation that she used her life savings to establish the Downtown Women’s Center.

8. Walter (Redd) Moore
A veteran having lived for more than 20 years on Skid Row, including a decade on the corner of 5th and Crocker Street in a cardboard box, Redd eventually became a member of the recovery community in the late Nineties, when he began his life’s work, serving others battling addiction. Redd’s strength and presence has inspired other men and women in recovery. As a counselor with Helping Hands of America, he has helped countless veterans in need.

9. Mark Holsinger
Reverend I.L. Eldridge established the original Los Angeles Mission in 1936, and in 1949 it relocated to 443 South Los Angeles Street, where it operated until January 1992. The non-profit, faith-based organization has for decades served the immediate and long-term needs of countless homeless men and women. Under the direction of Mark Holsinger, the Mission opened its 156,000-square-foot facility, at 303 East 5th Street on January 21, 1992. The new facility fulfilled Holsinger’s vision of providing not only emergency services but also comprehensive long-term spiritual, educational and vocational opportunities to men and women.
Dr. Bleakley has found a professional home at the clinic, since 2000, because of the clinic’s commitment to advancing and providing the highest level of medical care.

31. S.S. Jones
In 2000, professional blues guitarist, S.S. Jones and Bill Edwards, also a musician and at that time a housing manager for SRO Housing, organized the Skid Row Musicians Network. Edwards secured a basement rehearsal space for the Network, which offered neighborhood musicians a safe place to gather, rehearse and to keep their equipment. The Network produced monthly free concerts at San Julian Park and the Leonide Hotel, with members performing in exchange for rehearsal space. The Network produced CDs including “Live at the Leonide” with a dozen participating neighborhood bands. Network bands performed throughout Los Angeles.

32. Pete White
While working for the Coalition to End Hunger and Homelessness Pete White saw the need for an organization of people on Skid Row who could themselves articulate and advocate resident’s issues and concerns. While founded Los Angeles Community Action Network in 1999, to ensure that people living in poverty have voice, power and opinion in the decisions that impact their lives. LA CAN, comprised of neighborhood residents has been a persuasive voice in preserving low income housing downtown, and in ensuring compensation for displaced residents. LA CAN also has a variety of programs focused on individual wellbeing, including, exercise programs, a community roof top garden and the production of community cultural events.

33. + 34. Lucy and Tony Stallworth
The Karaoke Coffee Club, begun by Lucy and Tony Stallworth, was founded in 1997 on the belief that joy and laughter are as essential to life as food and water. The Club has been hosted for more than a decade at Central City Community Outreach, which opens its doors to more than 300 people weekly. The spirited shows feature song and dance and a warm cup of coffee, and allow one's troubles to be forgotten, if only for a moment.

35. Ted Edwards
In January 1985, in the playground of the Catholic Worker, arose Justicerville, where under the leadership of Ted Hayes, a diverse population of more than 73 men, women and children became a hotbed of activism. Ted moved on to build Dome Village in 1993, where he and former Justicerville residents lobbied the government and businesses, held many demonstrations and succeeded in promoting the idea of transitional communities to help the homeless to help themselves.

36. Scott Chamberlain
Beginning as a volunteer with Union Rescue Mission’s (URM) Youth Ministry in 1987, Scott’s relationship with URM has continued in many forms. He soon became the founding pastor of Skid Row’s Central City Church of the Nazarene and Executive Director of Central City Community Outreach where he fostered a sense of community, accountability and leadership among the Skid Row population from 1988-2003. Scott further partnered to create after-school programs for children, support groups for those struggling with addiction, and outreach programs, including a weekly Karaoke Coffee Club. From 2003-2005, Scott worked as a consultant for New Church Specialties, training pastors.
General Jeff
General Jeff is a Skid Row activist. He’s a first generation West Coast rapper. In 2006, after unsuccessful attempts to end gang violence where he grew up in South Central, Jeff packed up and moved himself and his activism efforts to Skid Row. He knew that to help the community, he would have to learn the community. He found that people were busy talking about Skid Row’s problems, but not about the solutions. Later that year, he created issues and solutions, the vehicle for his activism. One of his first projects was the Gladys Park Improvement Project.

A.J. Martin
A.J. Martin has been a fixture in Gladys Park for 20 years. He went from park user to super volunteer, working with the park’s SRO Housing staff during regular daytime park hours and helping setting up and break down the legendary Drifters once a day and on Sunday recovery meetings in the park. He became a clean and sober member of the Skid Row recovery community. While owned by the City of Los Angeles, Gladys Park was managed by SRO Housing, Inc. and funded by the Community Redevelopment Agency. When Governor Jerry Brown and the legislature disappeared the CRA, after the 2008 financial meltdown, a new body, the Los Angeles Community Network (LA CAN) stepped forward, as the LA’s Community Watch program that protects Skid Row citizens from harassment by security guards and police. He has conducted countless know your rights trainings with Skid Row residents. He has been equally active in LA CAN’s housing campaigns. He’s widely respected and admired in the neighborhood. He is also the maker of a number of spectacular one-of-a-kind bikes initially conceived to gain neighborhood attention and assist his organizing efforts. These bikes, designed as vehicles for organizing, function equally well as art objects and in 2015 they were featured in an exhibition “Screaming Two Wheelers” on Dogon’s work at the Skid Row History Museum & Archive.

Carol Sobel
Carol is a civil rights attorney who’s successfully litigated many lawsuits against the City of LA, for their policies that criminalize homeless residents of Skid Row, including the Jones Case in which the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the City’s ordinance 4118.d prohibiting sitting or lying on the street constituted cruel and unusual punishment and was unconstitutional. Sobel continues to file and win cases in Skid Row and in Venice that prevent the City from confiscating the belongings of homeless people. In Skid Row and Venice she continues to resist one attempt after another as the City of Los Angeles recycles its brutal and futile policy of confiscation as a magical means of making the “Homeless Problem” disappear. Sobel has worked extensively with Alice Callaghan, The Catholic Worker and LA CAN and hundreds of homeless plaintiffs in these civil rights struggles.

Becky Dennison
Becky was for many years the Co-Executive Director of the Los Angeles Community Action Network (LA CAN) where she worked alongside low-income and homeless leaders in Downtown and South Los Angeles to promote social and racial justice. Becky made important contributions to LA CAN’s housing campaigns that achieved a citywide moratorium on residential hotel conversions and the “No Net Loss” housing policy. Becky was instrumental in founding the Downtown Women’s Action Coalition in 2001. DWC’s Downtown Women’s Needs Assessment survey conducted triennially since 2001 identifies the current needs and characteristics of women living downtown to assist the community in designing housing and programs appropriate to women’s real needs. Becky is excited about LA CAN’s new building, the Justice and Wellness Center, complete with rooftop garden. In January 2016 Becky became Executive Director of Venice Community Housing. She continues to work with LA CAN as a board member.

Hayk Makhmuryan
Hayk Makhmuryan (civil rights attorney), Hayk Makhmuryan (director LAMP Arts Program) Christopher Mack (outreach worker at the JWCH Center for Community Health Downtown), Katherine McNenny (co-founder Industrial District Green), KevinMichael Key (Community organizer).

Christopher Mack
Chris is the Lead Community Outreach Worker for the JWCH Institute Skid Row Community Clinic. In that role he’s out and about knowing everybody in the community and hooking them up with health services. Chris loves people, he loves to talk and he loves to sing. He figured out long ago that it’s the right brain, the creative side of people that finds joy and wonder in the worst situations and brings them through it. His infectious spirit resulted in the creation The Urban Voices Project, an initiative to provide healing through music for homeless and disenfranchised individuals on Skid Row. Composed of artists and performers from the Skid Row neighborhood in Downtown Los Angeles, this project is presented by The Colburn School and Wesley Health Centers (JWCH Institute). The Urban Voices Project: A Skid Row Choir serves as a bridge to the Wesley’s health and wellness services for our homeless.

A. J. Martin
A. J. Martin (volunteer responsible for community access to Gladys Park and for The Drifters recovery meetings in Gladys Park), Carol Sobel (civil rights attorney), Hayk Makhmuryan (director LAMP Arts Program) Christopher Mack (outreach worker at the JWCH Center for Community Health Downtown), Katherine McNenny (co-founder Industrial District Green), KevinMichael Key (Community organizer).

KevinMichael Key
KevinMichael Key is a well-known presence in Skid Row. His penetrating voice is louder than any siren or fire. He walks the streets checking the wellbeing of community members. “You doin alright? You doin good?” Wearing a variety of hats he works for the community non-stop. As a community organizer for United Coalition East Prevention Project, he’s worked on many campaigns to keep drug dealers and alcohol outlets from overwhelming the community. He was a leader in the fight to keep Skid Row Housing Trust from selling alcohol in their New Genesis Hotel. He’s an active member of the Skid Row recovery community, and through his work with Los Angeles Poverty Department has done much to get Skid Row recognized as the Biggest Recovery Community Anywhere. He’s long worked with Critical Resistance to ground their prison abolition movement in Skid Row. He’s a facilitator for the JWCH Clinic peer-to-peer diabetes program.

Hayk Makhmuryan
The Lamp Fine Arts program began in 1999. Hayk Makhmuryan became Lamp’s Fine Arts program coordinator in 2008. He works as an advocate for strengthening communities through arts. The hallmark of Hayk’s tenure as program coordinator is “openness”. He has expanded the program from visual arts to include, music and writing. He has brought in numerous artists as volunteers to facilitate workshops. Significantly, he has opened the workshop up to everyone on Skid Row, not just Lamp program participants. He has brought the program into numerous partnerships with organizations large and small, to create opportunity for Lamp artists to exhibit their work. Lamp Arts has joined with Los Angeles Poverty Department to produce 6 annual Festivals for All Skid Row Artists—with the 7th coming up in October. Lamp Fine Arts Program will mount an exhibition of its artists at the Skid Row History Museum & Archive From August 12 through September 18, 2016.

Katherine McNenny
In December 2011, Katherine McNenny planted her first 7 trees on her block of San Pedro St. between 4th and 5th Sts. To do that she had to lobby, get on board and coordinate the property owners, Council District 14, the Bureau of Street Services, and TreePeople who managed the plantings. The next year Katherine co-founded Industrial District Green to pursue local area greening projects. Landscape architect Gabrielle Newmark is Katherine’s current partner in IDG. Katherine has planted and is busy maintaining trees all over the neighborhood. And she continues to lobby property owners to plant gardens in the Skid Row area. Two drought tolerant gardens have been planted at 3rd and San Pedro St. and another on San Julian St. between 6th and 7th Sts. Katherine is very active in the Skid Row Neighborhood Council formation committee.

The LA Marching Band is a collection of LA and OC based professional musicians who have a passion for marching and pep bands. We have been able to provide sports teams, corporations and private events with fun and entertaining music with a marching flair (complete with feather plumes!). We have roughly 60 musicians within our collective who play everything from snare and bass drums to sousaphones and piccolos. We work hard to bring fun to marching band!

About Street Symphony
As a community of professional musicians committed to engaging communities affected by homelessness and incarceration, Street Symphony is a grassroots organization which performs regular concert programs in county jails and in Skid Row. Street Symphony also offers high level music training to aspiring musicians living in disenfranchised communities. At Street Symphony, we know that when people find their creative and expressive voices, they become advocates for themselves. For disenfranchised communities experiencing homelessness and poverty - as well as for ensembles of world-class musicians - Street Symphony gives us a way to understand who we are as people, as artists, and as citizens.

Portraits by CruShow
Artist CruShow Herring, aka Showzart, was born in Kansas City, MO. He attributes his passion for community and making a difference to his mother, Sheleta J. Herring of the Creative Images Foundation. He credits his father, Gerrie E. Herring, also an artist, with his illustrative abilities. Making art from the streets of Skid Row to the board rooms of City Hall, CruShow has been instrumental in fighting for equal rights for everyone, and creating programs and services that aid not only the disenfranchised, but create opportunities for all races, religions and nationalities. He consistently generates collaborations with fellow artists to fulfill the objective of community empowerment. His work celebrates community accomplishments while expressing a consciousness that stimulates positive action for collaborative change.

EXHIBITION: MARCH 9 THROUGH JUNE 30
ZILLIONAIRES AGAINST HUMANITY: SABOTAGING THE SKID ROW NEIGHBORHOOD COUNCIL

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE HILLARY CLINTON TO ASK “WHAT HAPPENED?” YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE RUSSIAN TO SUBVERT AN ELECTION. WHEN THERE'S MONEY TO BE MADE, THIS EXHIBITION EXAMINES THROUGH CARTOONS, PHOTOS, VIDEOS, DOCUMENTS AND EPHEMERA, THE OUTSIZED INVESTMENT AND GREAT LENGTHS GONE TO BY DOWNTOWN POWERBROKERS, TO SUBVERT THE SUB-DIVISION ELECTION THAT WOULD HAVE GIVEN THE SKID ROW NEIGHBORHOOD ITS OWN NEIGHBORHOOD COUNCIL.

THANK you...to all our pals and partners who have worked to make Walk the Talk happen. And that includes the L.A. Poverty Department production staff. Portraits by CruShow
Artist CruShow Herring, aka Showzart, was born in Kansas City, MO. He attributes his passion for community and making a difference to his mother, Sheleta J. Herring of the Creative Images Foundation. He credits his father, Gerrie E. Herring, also an artist, with his illustrative abilities. Making art from the streets of Skid Row to the board rooms of City Hall, CruShow has been instrumental in fighting for equal rights for everyone, and creating programs and services that aid not only the disenfranchised, but create opportunities for all races, religions and nationalities. He consistently generates collaborations with fellow artists to fulfill the objective of community empowerment. His work celebrates community accomplishments while expressing a consciousness that stimulates positive action for collaborative change.

ZILLIONAIRES AGAINST HUMANITY: SABOTAGING THE SKID ROW NEIGHBORHOOD COUNCIL

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE HILLARY CLINTON TO ASK “WHAT HAPPENED?” YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE RUSSIAN TO SUBVERT AN ELECTION. WHEN THERE'S MONEY TO BE MADE, THIS EXHIBITION EXAMINES THROUGH CARTOONS, PHOTOS, VIDEOS, DOCUMENTS AND EPHEMERA, THE OUTSIZED INVESTMENT AND GREAT LENGTHS GONE TO BY DOWNTOWN POWERBROKERS, TO SUBVERT THE SUB-DIVISION ELECTION THAT WOULD HAVE GIVEN THE SKID ROW NEIGHBORHOOD ITS OWN NEIGHBORHOOD COUNCIL.
